

Deadline for Addresses of Aliens Noted

Gordon L. Cornell, acting in charge of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said today that aliens in the Southland have only one more week in which to comply with the Federal law requiring that they report their address to the Government during January of each year. The immigration official urged all aliens who have not yet complied, to go as soon as possible to the nearest Post Office or Immigration Service office to file the report. Parents or guardians may file the report for aliens under 14 years of age, or those incompetent or under custodial care. He pointed out willful failure to comply carried penalties ranging from fines to deportation.

Indian Guides Establish New Longhouse

At a recent meeting of representatives from various Y-Indian Guide Longhouse was established. The longhouse is the district organization of all Y-Indian Guide Tribes and takes the responsibility for the establishment of new tribes and the planning of inter-tribe events. An executive committee was appointed at this meeting consisting of: Sam Van Wagner, chief; Lester Murdock, assistant chief; Lester Foster, tally-keeper; and Milt Isbell, wampum bearer. The longhouse will meet each month to discuss Y-Indian Guide business. The chief of each tribe will be a member of the longhouse.

Leland PTA Board Tries Life of Crime

Swooping down on unsuspecting victims early one morning recently were several members of the Leland Street PTA board. Acting as kidnapers, they carried off carloads of flustered ladies garbed in everything from nightclothes to street-wear, to the home of Mrs. J. A. Johnson, where a kidnap breakfast was in progress. The surprise guest of the morning was Harry Sams, principal of Leland Street school, who was kidnapped by Mrs. Harry Foat, jr., president of the PTA. Other kidnapers were Mesdames Larry Vukasovich, Rosario Giacalone, Ted Ludich, Harold Foat, Paul Kornegay and Jack Samson. Those kept busy in the kitchen preparing the waffles and hot coffee for the hungry horde included Mesdames Charles Short, Martin Slavich, J. A. Johnson and Clifford Rinehart.

Roast Beef Winter Fare

Sure to please meat for any winter month is a prized standing rib of beef. For a foursome, a 2-rib roast is none too large. It is wise buying to check the quality brand if you want to be sure of tenderness. The small flat bones covering the large rounded end of the roast may be removed when purchased. If not, these bones should be cut off in the kitchen before the roast is brought to the table if you expect the host to do a professional job of carving. A 6-pound, 2-rib roast will be medium rare after 2 1/2 hours in a slow oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit). Don't spoil the full flavor by using a cover or water. Roast fat side up in an open pan. After a rest period of 15 to 20 minutes, this fine roast is easy to carve when placed with the small ends of the ribs toward the carver and the exposed ribs at his left. Don't confuse the carver with too much garnish. Scalloped tomatoes in green peppers are easy to serve and tasty, too, with roast beef. A grated cheese topping for the peppers is extra good.

PORK CHOPS

Pork chops or spareribs take on an exotic touch when baked with a sweet-sour sauce of California honey, lemon juice, a little soy sauce and dry mustard.

PTA Plans Next Month For Books

Meadow Park PTA set February as book month at the recent monthly meeting. Books that are suitable for children will be donated to the new library.

Mrs. J. T. Anagnost, program chairman, presented Mrs. J. D. Moseley, chairman of the American Field Service, who introduced three foreign exchange students, Gloria Montesinos from Spain, Arny Willemssen from Holland, and Arno Mehling from Germany. They gave brief talks concerning education systems and customs comparing with ours in this country.

Mrs. Bert Scott, treasurer, and Mrs. Ernest Dungey, library chairman, were introduced by the president, Mrs. W. W. Poser. It was announced that Mrs. J. G. Louvier had accepted the position of parent education chairman.

RICE PUDDING

Popular for generations, old-fashioned rice pudding, is simple to prepare. The secret to its goodness is the long, slow baking. Combine one quart milk with 2 tablespoons each sugar and rice, and 1 cup seedless raisins. Put in casserole and bake in slow oven about 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Allow to cool thoroughly before serving. The small amounts of rice and sugar are correct. The milk caramelizes and sweetens the pudding. It 't'ckens as it cools.

With the facilities which have largely increased the range of foods within the housekeeper's choice has come the double danger of overtaxing the digestive organs by providing too great a variety of foods at one meal, and of so stimulating the appetite by a succession of different flavors as to lead to over-eating.

The housekeeper has the new problem of guarding against temptation and of obtaining proper simplicity in the meals she offers, rather than the old problem of discovering new foods and devising new dishes to tempt the appetites of those under her care.

Greatly increased ease with which, under modern conditions, food is obtained and prepared tempts the unwary housekeeper to yield to the caprices of her family. Frequently there is no other reason for calling for different food from that which has been prepared than the gratification of a whim. This doubtless is a harm of introducing unnecessary complexity into the household processes and of developing undue self-indulgence must be guarded against.

She has also to resist the existing tendency to over-elaboration in preparation, for which, unfortunately, teachers of cooking are in part responsible, unless it may be that the stress of social rivalry and the power of fashion or imitation may be held responsible to a still greater degree for such ill-advised practices.

Greater, perhaps, than these problems are those which more directly result from the fact that food is no longer manufactured in the home, but is prepared in factories, often to the extent that no further labor is needed to make it ready for the table.

The housekeeper was formerly personally familiar with all the processes through which the food she used had passed, even if she did not actually perform them. She could base her judgment as to their value or quality on personal knowledge. In the case of foods prepared or manufactured outside the home, this is not possible. Accordingly she must always be on her guard lest she buy fraudulent or unwholesome foods.

Halldale P-TA Hears Mental Health Talk

Speaker at the recent Halldale Avenue School PTA meeting was Mrs. Alan Kohlman, teacher of parent education in the Adult Education program of Los Angeles schools.

She spoke on "Mental Health in the Home—Understanding Ourselves."

Mrs. E. N. Reese, is taking the names of volunteers for the Mother's March on Polio, set for Tuesday evening, January 31, from 7 to 9 p.m. All house holders wishing to donate to the polio drive should keep their porch lights on that evening from 7 to 9, she said.

The A6 boys and girls took a trip to Narbonne high school. The children were very proud to have the most parents represented from among the five other elementary schools.

The children met in the auditorium and were introduced to the principal of Narbonne, and some of their future teachers. After listening to a few musical programs, the children were taken on a tour of the school.

The next association meeting is slated for Thursday, February 9, at 1:30 p.m., in the new auditorium.

Parent education classes are being conducted every Monday 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the 232nd Street School, room 1. Adolescent children is the theme. Information on transportation may be obtained by contacting Mrs. David P. Goolsby or Mrs. Harlan D. Poulter.

CRASH ...

a.m., while Mrs. Robinette was driving her husband to work. She apparently lost control of the car, according to police.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at Halverson-Leavell mortuary, corner Cravens and Engracia. Burial will follow at Inglewood park cemetery.

Robinette was born in Texas while his wife was born in Houston, Miss. He was employed at Northrop aviation, while his wife worked in a commissary for the Los Angeles city schools district.

They are survived by two sons, J. Warren Robinette, 1613 29th street, Torrance, and C. B. Robinette of Vista, California, and one daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Sue Sallstrom of Watonga, Oklahoma.

Robinette is survived by one sister, Mrs. Sarah Mabry of El Monte and one brother, Charles Robinette of Ceiling, Oklahoma. Mrs. Robinette is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Grove of Rolling Hills, Mrs. Lois Wohlwend of South Pasadena, and Mrs. Eve Allen of Los Angeles, as well as four brothers, Everett G. Davis of Rivera, H. D. Davis of Whittier, Britton Davis of Los Angeles, and Lee Davis of Encino, California.

NEUTRON DETECTOR

Capsule radiation indicator for detecting fast neutrons, the most penetrating of all atomic radiations, has been developed at the University of California, Los Angeles atomic energy project.

RAIN ...

"But if the Dominguez channel fills up we'll be in trouble. The channel still has four feet to go."

Most calls were from North Torrance, Perkins said, with a few coming from Hollywood Riviera. Hollywood Riviera was pretty well under control, he said. The department received no calls from South Torrance.

Western ave. around Carson was said to be badly flooded, and some telephone poles lying by the side of the road were found floating down the middle of Western, Perkins said.

"I've never seen Western south of Carson street as bad as this time," he said.

ACCURATE DIAGNOSIS

Enormous increase in the use of instruments for measuring car defects in service stations has enabled the factory service man to make his point as clear and precise as does the engineer dealing with a foreman at the plant where the car is made.

Processed Foods

United States has been eating more frozen and canned vegetables over the past 20 years, reports Will M. Simmons.

Says Simmons, the increasing trend toward processed vegetables has accompanied improvements in packaging, processing and distribution together with high-level consumer incomes, wage-earning wives, and more convenient food products for saving time and labor in the home.
